RE:NEW Invites Pastors & Youth Ministry Teams
To Be Equipped for Mentorship
One-Day Training on March 28, 2015

ROWLAND HEIGHTS, Calif., Feb. 07, 2015 -- RE:NEW is inviting pastors and youth workers to a one-day training on March 28 to be equipped for mentorship and discipleship in their church. "Riding the Waves: Equipping Youth Workers for Mentorship" will be hosted at the Evangelical Formosan Church of Los Angeles in El Monte and will include a keynote message by Dr. Benjamin Shin, professor at Talbot School of Theology. The training is geared to pastors, youth workers, and ministry teams, to learn more about themselves, as well as how to develop a relational model of mentorship in their church communities.

"We're looking forward to this event as we gather pastors and youth workers throughout the Greater Los Angeles area so that we can build deeper relationships with our students and encourage them to be effective witnesses of the Gospel in every part of their lives," said Phoebe Ng, RE:NEW Project Manager. "Our goal is to equip teams on how to develop a relational model of mentorship in their churches and train students to be mission-minded."

RE:NEW will also be sharing its revised edition of Campus Representatives Initiative (CRI) curriculum, a training manual and resource that is part of the CRI Program, to equip and build up young people who want to grow spiritually.

The day-long conference will also feature three workshops by experienced leaders and ministry practitioners. The first workshop is on coaching and caring skills, by Rev. Dr. Richard Chung; the second workshop is on personality profiles and conflict resolution, led by Dr. Agnes Ip, president and founder of Presence Quotient, RE:NEW's mother organization; and the final workshop will cover boundaries in relationships, led by Annette Jewik.

All interested parties are encouraged to register at www.RenewTheResponse.org/event/riding-the-waves/. Registration is free and lunch will be provided to all participants.

RE:NEW a Presence movement

RE:NEW a Presence movement is the youth and young adult initiative of Presence Quotient. It aims to partner with churches to challenge youth and young adults to re:new their faith by equipping them with teaching, training and resources to learn more about Christ; providing a venue for people to use their God-given gifts; and mobilizing this generation to live with purpose. RE:NEW, which started in 2011, is based in the San Gabriel Valley area, and works alongside Presence and its initiatives. For more information, visit www.RenewTheResponse.org.
